

Tosco Music

Celebrate the power of music! With an infectious love of song and an inviting spirit, Tosco Music breaks down the barriers between performers and audiences to celebrate the incredible power of music and bring people together.

From concerts and open mic nights to music scholarships and community outreach, Tosco Music is dedicated to helping the community explore, develop and share their passion for music in all its forms.

As part of our community outreach, Tosco Music brings the joy of singing to seniors in the community and at area events that are free and open to the public.

Tosco Music Senior Singalongs

For more than 25 years, John Tosco and Tosco Music volunteers have been playing and singing golden oldies with senior audiences in assisted living and church communities. We coordinate with other professional musicians and vocalists to support these special musical events.

Our Senior Singalongs are more than performances to passive audiences. We focus on engaging seniors in joining in the musical fun.

We've experienced music's unique ability to enliven memory and spark connection and joy, even on memory care units where we tailor song selections for their participation.

Senior Singalong Teams - FREE Summer Music Workshops

To build new Senior Singalong Teams and add new sites in Fall 2017, Tosco Music is holding two free music workshops for people interested in getting involved. We are looking for a few new Song Leaders who can play the oldies on guitar, lead a small team of volunteer singers, and especially engage seniors in singing along. We also welcome new volunteers who want to come sing.
